LED Mag Lamp

Most therapists consider the magnifying lamp an important diagnostic tool. Also known as a loupe, it magnifies the face and is used early in the session to analyze the complete treatment area. It is also used to monitor skin reactions throughout the session, and to assist in extractions. These examinations will determine which products and procedures should be used during a treatment.

This 5" lens, 5-diopter LED Mag Lamp comes both with a table clamp and stand, offering the option to use it either way. Light Emitting Diode (LED) bulbs are extremely energy-efficient, cost effective, durable and 'environmentally friendly'. LED bulbs are very easy on the eyes and reduce eyestrain. UL approved.
